NEWS & EVENTS

DMU honors the 2020 Alumni of the Year

They've made the quality of life better for patients and citizens. They're leaders in their organizations and in their professions. They're also proud Des Moines University graduates who continue to serve their medical/health sciences alma mater. Learn more about the 2020 Alumni of the Year.

Glanton 2020: Supporting diversity in health care

As our nation continues to grapple with longstanding racial disparities, Des Moines University is working be part of the solution in health care with the Glanton Fund. Established in 2004, the fund generates scholarships for minority students, who are under-represented in the health care professions, and supports programs that foster the cultural humility of all DMU students. Your gift to the Glanton Fund advances this critical effort. When you support the Glanton Fund, you show your solidarity with the University for a more compassionate and just health care system. You also stand with this year's Glanton honorees, Robert Sieman, D.O.'73, and Loretta Sieman. The first DMU graduate to be a Glanton honoree, Dr. Sieman is an obstetrician/gynecologist and medical director of New Leaf Wellness in West Des Moines, IA. Loretta is a retired teacher, the first woman to serve on the West Des Moines City Council and a volunteer for numerous charitable and civic causes.

DMU Alumni Board welcomes five new members, thanks three retirees

Alumni representing all three DMU colleges and four academic programs joined the DMU Alumni Association Board of Directors this summer, while three graduates retired from the board.

Preceptor development opportunities

DMU is supportive of health care providers who choose to actively participate in the education of our students by offering excellent clinical training opportunities. This webinar series was developed to educate and assist preceptors to facilitate learning in the clinical setting, improve student performance, and improve overall communication. The series includes resources that can immediately be implemented into the clinical setting and real-world case examples. View the webinar information and register.

We truly appreciate individuals who are willing to give back by teaching our future health care providers. Preceptors do what no textbook or classroom can accomplish. If you are interested in becoming a clinical preceptor for DMU students, please email the CME office and we'll connect you with the respective program.
